FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Soliant Expands its Headquarters Creating 200 Jobs

PEACHTREE CORNERS, GA, June 11, 2021 – On Thursday, June 3, Gov. Brian P. Kemp announced that Soliant, a leading provider of specialized health care and education staffing services to hospitals and schools in the country, will further expand its Peachtree Corners operations, creating 200 new jobs.

“Soliant’s expansion in Georgia is testament to our unmatched workforce, conservative leadership, and world-class business environment,” said Gov. Kemp. “I want to thank Soliant for the opportunities it continues to create for hardworking Georgians.”

Headquartered in Technology Park, Soliant will employ more than 600 people once the expansion is complete. Soliant’s education and health care professional staffing teams fill nursing, allied health, special education, telehealth, pharmacy, life science and other health care positions across the United States.

“Our company sits at the nexus of three elemental industries: health care, education, and life sciences. These economic cornerstones continue to expand, evolve, and demand skilled talent,” said Soliant CEO David Alexander. “We at Soliant will continue partnering with the good people of Gwinnett County and metro Atlanta to help meet the diverse needs of patients and students across the country. As a Georgia native, I’m very proud to be growing Soliant’s operations here in the heart of my home state.”

Soliant’s recently expanded its Peachtree Corners headquarters, located at 5550 Peachtree Parkway by 25,000 square feet, bringing the total to 83,000 square feet. The majority of new job opportunities now open to applicants will be focused on education and health care recruiting. Individuals interested in career opportunities with Soliant are encouraged to visit soliant.com/about/careers for additional information.

“Soliant expanding its headquarters in Gwinnett is a great example of our diverse economy and our labor draw,” said Gwinnett Board of Commissioners Chairwoman Nicole Love Hendrickson.

“It is a privilege to collaborate with our partners and recruit top companies to Gwinnett County.”

Mayor Mike Mason added: “Having Soliant grow within our city is proof of our excellent talent pool, amenities and the overall quality of life. We are proud to highlight a strong, dedicated workforce and economy allowing Soliant to expand its headquarters and create additional jobs for the community.”

Georgia Department of Economic Development (GDEcD) Project Manager Emily Poole represented the Global Commerce division on this project in partnership with the Metro Atlanta Chamber, Partnership Gwinnett and Georgia Power.

“From research and development and cold chain storage to health care software development and staffing, Georgia is at the center of the global health industry,” said GDEcD Commissioner Pat Wilson. “Many thanks to our partners at Partnership Gwinnett and the Metro Atlanta Chamber for continuing to help us support the needs of the state’s existing industries and to Soliant for its job-stimulating investment.”

Partnership Gwinnett, Project Manager, Technology and Life Science, Brian Dorelus said: “We are proud to have such an innovative company expand its footprint within the city limits of Peachtree Corners in Gwinnett County. Soliant is a company made up of dedicated health care staffing professionals, and it is great to see them continuously support the community.”
