Youngster Wins Chance to be ‘Mayor for the Morning’

PEACHTREE CORNERS, GA, May 16, 2014 – A fourth-grader recently had an opportunity not often afforded someone so young – the chance to be mayor.

On a recent Saturday morning, Sam Middleton, a student at Cornerstone Christian Academy, was proclaimed the City of Peachtree Corners’ “Honorary Mayor for the Morning.”

It was all part of a fundraising event held at his school – Sam got the chance when his dad, Cam, was the top bidder on the silent action item.

Sam and his father, joined Peachtree Corners Mayor Mike Mason Saturday, May 10, for a mayoral breakfast and a personal tour of City Hall and Council Chambers.

The youngster was presented with a proclamation, a Peachtree Corners baseball cap, sunglasses – and the opportunity to sit in the mayor’s chair.

The Cornerstone student thought sitting at the mayor’s desk which came complete with a name plate that read “Mayor Middleton,” was pretty cool.

“It was an ideal occasion to introduce Sam to city government,” said Mayor Mason. “Who knows where this will lead, perhaps one day he will be interested in serving in public office.”
