Cybersecurity Software Startup to Open, Bring High-Paying Jobs

PEACHTREE CORNERS, GA, Jan. 23, 2019 – A cloud-based identity and access management provider, based in San Francisco, announced recently that it would open a new East Coast Growth Center in Peachtree Corners bringing some 50 new jobs.

OneLogin, which provides a platform for businesses to allow simple and secure logins, will soon open its Peachtree Corners offices in Technology Park at 107 Technology Parkway. At its new location, the company will be creating jobs that include sales, sales development, sales engineering customer success, business development, field marketing, tech support, and implementation consultants.

“We are delighted to be creating high-paying new jobs in a variety of disciplines,” stated OneLogin’s CEO and President Brad Brooks in a press release distributed by Partnership Gwinnett and The Georgia Department of Economic Development on Jan. 17, 2019.

OneLogin is a cybersecurity software startup that unifies access for both on premise and cloud applications. Its Unified Access Management platform is utilized to unlock apps, devices and data. OneLogin serves businesses and partners across a myriad of industries, with over 2,500 customers worldwide. The company has approximately 250 employees globally and opened a development center in Seattle last fall.

“New businesses are continually drawn to our technology-focused city for our educated work force, family-friendly community and easy access to the Atlanta metro area and international airport,” said Mayor Mike Mason. “We are pleased that OneLogin has selected Peachtree Corners as the location for their new offices and welcome them to our city.”
