CPA Firm Celebrates Opening of its new Peachtree Corners Office

PEACHTREE CORNERS, GA, Jan. 24, 2020 -- Over 75 well-wishers joined Hancock Askew's partners, staff and city leaders recently to celebrate the opening of its new Peachtree Corners office with a reception and ribbon-cutting event.

The accounting and CPA firm relocated into a 13,000 square-foot remodeled office on Davinci Court from another Peachtree Corners office when it outgrew that space. The new office accommodates the firm's 60 employees and has room for 30 additional workers as the company expands, said Hancock Askew partner Russell Reece.

Mayor Mike Mason, Councilmembers Phil Sadd, Eric Christ, Lorri Christopher and Weare Gratwick were on hand for the celebration along with members of the Peachtree Corners Business Association and Hancock Askew partners and business supporters.

Just before the ribbon was cut, Mayor Mike Mason addressed the Hancock Askew team saying: "Your decision to remain in Peachtree Corners when there are plenty of other locations from which to choose is not lost on us," he said. "The city council and I are delighted that you have again chosen Peachtree Corners for your business location. It speaks volumes to our efforts as a business-friendly city."
